

Supplementary Material

What do nectarivorous bats like? Nectar composition in Bromeliaceae with special emphasis on bat-pollinated species

Author: Thomas Göttlinger, Michael Schwerdtfeger, Kira Tiedge, Gertrud Lohaus*

*Correspondence: Gertrud Lohaus (lohaus@uni-wuppertal.de)

Supplementary Figure S1: Concentration of sugars (glucose, fructose, sucrose) in nectar of seven genera of Bromeliaceae (Alcantarea (A), Guzmania (B), Pitcairnia (C), Puya (D), Tillandsia (E), Vriesea (F), Werauhia (G)) which include bat-pollinated species. The box plots show medians (horizontal line in box) and means (x in box).